

Dear Friends of Tamarack,

I hope that you are enjoying the summer and that this email finds you refreshed and renewed.

We need your help. Do you know of a university or college professor that we could send an email to that would introduce them to our website (that they can use for their students) and our books (that they can use in their courses)? We want every school to know about and use our work.

We are also looking for contacts you might have with popular or issue-based media (faith, professional, organizational, alternative) that might review or advertise our books.

Could you reply to this email with:

- The names of the professors, kinds of courses they teach and the universities/colleges they teach at
- Any issue-based media sources (faith, professional, organizational, alternative)

Even if you do not know contact info, forward us the names with as many clues as possible – our summer students working on this are excellent at finding contact information. They will then send out a simple email with helpful tools professors and media can use in their teaching. Might you just take five minutes to help us? This would be tremendously helpful in spreading our message of collaboration and social change.

If you would like to speak to someone in person to get more info, you can call 519-885-5155 or email Matt Gordon - matt@tamarackcommunity.ca as I am away until October writing a new book.

Thanks so much!

Sincerely,

Paul Born
