

Wayne Hussey

Wayne has a 25 year history of working in a variety of institutional settings including municipal government, education, and not for profit organizations. His portfolios included senior management and fund development positions. Wayne's independent consulting practice specializes in rapid strategic planning and project planning, and specialty projects in the areas of corporate philanthropy ("knowing how to give it away") leadership, morale management, process facilitation and various other elements of organizational effectiveness.

He also has particular expertise in analyzing organizational readiness and campaign planning as well as providing fundraising and sponsorship support to a variety of not-for-profit, private companies and organizations. His drive, passion and enthusiasm, when combined with a broad range of skills and experiences have resulted in consistently positive feedback from all of his clients. His communication skills are exceptional and were honed during his 10 year tenure as an adjunct professor at the University of Waterloo and a three year run as a radio talk show host. Wayne is regularly invited around the world to speak to various professional associations and charitable organizations on innovation, change and creative problem solving.

Wayne's clients have included international organizations like the United Nations, the International Institute of Municipal Clerks, Downes Ryan International, Devtek Aerospace, NCR, SunLife Financial, Canadian Tire Foundation for Families, the Art Gallery of Ontario, the Hummingbird Centre, the Art Gallery of Hamilton, the University of Manitoba, Trent University and agencies across Canada, the United States, Australia and New Zealand and South Africa.

He is a Honorary Life Director of the United Way of Kitchener Waterloo and Area, Chairman of the Development Committee of the International Municipal Clerk's Education Foundation and Board Chair of the Rogers Communication Advisory Committee for Kitchener Waterloo and Area.

Wayne and his wife Kim, raise their six children near Aberfoyle in the Township of Puslinch.

"The quality of Wayne's advice and the service he provided on our Quality of Life Project were outstanding. I can't think of a consulting assignment in the past 10 years where we have received better value or expert advice."

Bill Pyatt, Commissioner of Social Services, Region of Waterloo

"Wayne is simply the best consultant we have ever accessed. Seven years ago he helped transform our agency and we have never looked back since. We regularly use his skills to update our strategic plan and to ensure we are in touch with the attitudes of our employees. He has made a real difference and is of great value to us."

Colin Gage, Executive Director, Victoria Park Community Homes
