

New Leaders and Neighbourhoods

The Hamilton Roundtable for Poverty Reduction has welcomed 30 new community champions to its leadership roundtable, choosing from over 100 people who showed interest. HRPR is also embarking on a new neighbourhood initiative in partnership with the City of Hamilton.

Hamilton's neighbourhood strategy responds in part to the "Code Red" series published by the Hamilton Spectator in 2010, that highlighted disparities in health outcomes and life expectancies depending on where you live in Hamilton. The city will focus on two neighbourhoods this summer, and add more later.

This Caledon Institute commentary focuses on the assets and leaders that are present in Hamilton's "vulnerable" neighbourhoods.
