

"Bon Match" Connects in Trois Rivières

ECOF, the convening group for Vibrant Communities in Trois Rivières, is working with five other employment organizations to assist people with employment barriers such as age, background, schooling or experience. Since the creation of the project, called "Bon Match", more than 150 businesses have been involved, resulting in 29 placements. "This project allows candidates having difficulties getting a job to benefit from personalized accompaniment in their job research," says Stephan Deschênes, manager of the project. "This approach also lets the employers know about them and often results in opportunities for a first interview." Read more (in French) about ECOF here.
