

Security Initiatives in St. Michel

Vivre St. Michel en santé's security club ("Club de sécurité") recently celebrated a decrease in the crime rate in their Montreal neighbourhood with a press conference. The mayor of the district, Madam Anie Samson, talked about the synergy between organizations and elected officials "Together one can change the world," she said. The local police chief, Commandant Fady Dagher, added "We need to keep supplying the media with positive events that happen in St. Michel". The security club worked on safe transportation initiatives and a "security angels" program that accompanied children to school. That program reduced school lateness, brawls and absenteeism as well, and is inspiring action internationally. Read more (in French) here.
